

VOLUNTEER IN MONTREAL

Jeunesses Musicales Canada (JMC) places great importance on the work of its volunteers. In our musical milieu, volunteers are seen as essential partners in the public's initiation to music. Furthermore, volunteer work is an integral part of our activities and allows us to reach above and beyond our objectives. Joining our team of volunteers enables you to meet new people, to be involved with youth, to contribute to the presentation of classical music, and to further the artistic education of future generations.

Do you enjoy being in contact with people... or perhaps you prefer clerical work? Do you want to support the Jeunesses Musicales Canada movement and take part in major events?

Be part of our Montreal team and enjoy several benefits:

- Reduced rates for tickets to Happy Hour Concerts at JMC'S André Bourbeau House
- Christmas party
- Party to celebrate the end of the artistic season
- Access to concerts, as part of your duties, during events:
 - Montreal International Musical Competition
 - Jeunesses Musicales Canada Foundation

VOLUNTEERS AT JMC'S ANDRÉ BOURBEAU HOUSE

Since 2000, JMC's National Office has been located in JMC's André Bourbeau House, which also houses the lively chamber Joseph Rouleau Hall. JMC's André Bourbeau House notably welcomes some 12,000 children and hundreds of adults each year for various concert series:

- Happy Hour Concerts (for the general public)

Volunteers directly contribute to the success of all of these concert series through the following activities, among others:

- Greeting and supervising groups of children
- Cloakroom duties
- Distributing concert programmes
- Other support activities

Volunteers also lend support to the daily work of JMC's permanent administrative staff. Volunteer work includes:
